I attended a local dealership Tiger Launch last night. An Elvis look-a-like rode the new bike into the showroom ! - a very strange sight !

Took the opportunity to book a test ride for sometime next week - I'll report back then.

I must admit it does look nice in a light trail worthy uber-motard kind of way (so GS-alike IMO)

Had a good look over one at the National M/C show in Manchester today and it looks like a great bike to compete with the Fazer/TDM/etc. If you like to take your bike off road then forget it - it has no off road pretensions all.

The new BMW 650 Enduro thingy (can't remember it's name) looks interesting though...
